

Alan J. Klawans

I believe that my life has been made interesting by the random visual moments that I have experienced, such as the light on the side of a building, a fishing lure in the water, numbers on the side of a ship, or a view of the Earth from an airplane window. The subjects that inspire my art come from many sources. They may be historic, art related, from architecture, industrial sites, movies, books, family experiences, old photographs, fishing trips, vacations and old postcards--- also flea market adventures.
